On Natural Phenomena

Message from the Editor

This issue is dedicated to natural phenomena, such as thunderbolts, earthquakes, various phenomena of space, the Earth etc. What becomes apparent from these texts is that science has not explained many of these phenomena correctly and we still have a lot to learn about our natural world with the assistance of Heaven.

Natural and atmospheric phenomena

Homer

Man, my dear brethren, lives in a World which has its own atmosphere and natural phenomena, which are not subordinate to your Nature, but to ours.

Thus man lives, works, and suffers within his environment; he investigates the atmospheric phenomena, seeking for the truth, and often in the course of his quest he makes mistakes in his research and boasts about it as though he had discovered treasure. And those who do not know the truth admire and applaud the great and learned man.

A few years later, though, another learned man, more careful than the first, finds out that the previous discoveries were mistaken, because not all aspects had been taken into account, or the calculations had been wrong. This is how your Science advances. For men who are concerned with fame and riches, who are selfish and fanatical, are not able to receive Illumination from the Divine Strength of the Lord.

Let one of your wise men of today explain how thunder is made or how earthquakes occur. They may reject our explanation because they do not believe in the Deity. But the Deity gives them proof of the soul's immortality. Yet they demand proof! What proof do they require to believe in spiritual phenomena?

Do they perhaps mean gold? For only thus will they be persuaded, unaware that the Lord created the Worlds by the Word alone. Do they reject the Words of the Spiritual World?

These people are all hypocritical Pharisees. But even so, they go to Church and to the Centres of Worship.

Science tells us that the collision of a negative and a positive cloud creates the spark which is known as thunder. What happens to the clouds and why are they divided into two kinds? How is it that by colliding they produce this electric charge in a spark? And what happens to it when it falls to Earth?

Let all those clever people learn that the energy of that spark is a positive energy. It enters the depths of the Earth and is stored in protective material so that it remains neutral and is not active upon Earth. When the Spiritual World, that is to say the Principle or, rather, the Great Leaders, consider that the time has come to use this explosive energy, they themselves become the intermediaries between earth, which is negative, and fire, which is positive. In this way the energy explodes in the depths of mother Earth, giving new heat to the World of corruption. We govern the Earth. Science cannot know when the fire will go out. We renew this fire. As you know, fire in the bowels of the Earth, without ether, cannot exist. Only through explosions is everything renewed.

In the conception of the Deity man is so small that it is impossible for him to understand simple things, let alone those that are complex. And does he seek to enter into the depths of the Mysteries?

Only with Our help will he arrive where We want him to, to glorify Him who sent him to Earth to realize a certain destiny, and not to be a sluggard who makes use of his brother's possessions.

Homer

The positive energy of thunder

Homer

If you were aware of the benefit you receive from thunder, you would once more marvel at the miracles wrought by the All-Virtuous One. Of course, thunderbolts often cause disasters, but compared to the benefits these are minimal.

Learn that thunderbolts preserve the fire of your Earth. Do not reckon, in accordance with your mistaken calculations, that because her fire is continually going out the Earth has therefore so many years life-time. As long as thunderbolts continue to fall to Earth, her fires do not go out but are renewed.

At many points on your Earth a special kind of "insulating" material is stored far below the surface.

Thus, when a thunderbolt, as positive energy, falls to the ground, it is not dispersed but penetrates to the depths of the earth until it encounters the insulating material mentioned above, and stays in it as potential energy. These small storehouses of positive energy exist in abundance in the Earth's depths.

As you know, the earth is negative and the thunderbolt is positive, just as in electricity there are two opposite poles. You can isolate the positive charge of electricity by storing it in a special apparatus. Nature has made provision for the positive energy of the thunderbolt by storing it inside a particular combination, so that it does not come into contact with the earth.

At certain times of the year, the Spiritual World, that is to say the great Teachers of our Kingdom who are exceedingly powerful Spirits, unite, by means of their spiritual power, the two poles of positive and negative energy. That is when the explosion that you call an "earthquake" occurs, and by this means the fires in the depths of the Earth are renewed.

From your studies of Physics you are well aware that if you light a fire in an iron container and seal it hermetically, the fire will go out for lack of oxygen. How then can fire exist in the depths of the Earth, since there is no oxygen there?

It follows that the Earth's fire would be totally extinguished, in which case man would not be able to live nor the earth to yield its fruits.

A new fire is, therefore, created by the explosion. And because of the lack of oxygen, the force of the explosion is immense and needs to find an exit through the volcanoes.

You may ask: How is the fire from the explosion in the Earth's depths kept going, if there is no oxygen present?

Know that vast quantities of water are stored at a great depth below the Earth's surface, which contain a small amount of oxygen. Furthermore, cracks form in the weakest places of the earth's crust, through which a small quantity of oxygen is also sucked in. For this reason the fire in the bowels of the Earth cannot be kept going for long and we are continually renewing it by means of new explosions.

This explanation is sufficient for those scientists who believe in the Divinity and its powers.

v. On the other hand, the scientists who do not possess divine illumination are full of doubts even when they are in the dark.

The thunderbolt is the life-giving energy of your Earth. It nourishes the Earth's stomach and preserves its vitality as if it were a human being.

Homer

The purpose of comets

Pharah

The comets are stars. Through the union of their irradiations they wander around in the Universe to balance the orbits of stars. Nobody knows about this. The forces of comets are directed by supernatural beings, which are therefore invisible to your eyes. The task of these beings is to check that everything in the Universe World is balanced.

When your astronomers calculate that a certain comet will destroy your Station if it diverts slightly from its path, they are right. The comet makes the disastrous diversion from its path but your Station remains intact. Why?

Because all things are for a reason. It (the comet) has brought your Earth to its exact orbit, so that it continues its eternal elliptical path.

Other stars could also fall upon your Station. Doesn't it look peculiar to you that, from all the stars moving in the infinite, not a single one has collided with the Earth? Here is the proof of its security: comets. How can one not admire the infinite wonders of Creation?

Comets are composed of one or many groups of stars. Their synthetic mixture in an atmosphere of electrical energy has such a powerful attraction, that it moves the Earth from an immense distance and brings it, without any harm, to the lost orbital time.

If such a thing was attempted through a different force, your Earth would be destroyed. You see, then, how the Lord has provided for everything, in order to save it (the Earth) in harmony and total safety? Glorify Him.

Pharah

The natural capacity of the Rainbow

Pharah

Be careful in all things. The Heavenly Force is the only one that can do whatever you all cannot. You will ascertain this yourself.

Today I will talk to you about the second part regarding the Rainbow.

The latter has the capacity of purifying the atmosphere locally from all that is polluted, regardless if the weather is good or not. The reflective colours of the sun have the magnetic strength to attract the polluted atmosphere and convert the pollution to oxygen.

How does this happen? Simple; Each colour contains a special composition and all colours together constitute a powerful attraction to the polluted ether, which passes through this Heavenly filter and with the successive ethereal chemical means the pollution is converted to clean oxygen, able to perform miracles upon the health of man.

The Rainbow, therefore, is not a simple phenomenon; it has its purpose within the laws and harmony of everything. No specialist can give an explanation.

Pharah

The treasure of the sea

Empedocles

Despite how much you have searched the depths of the sea, you have not reached your goal, unfortunately. It is impossible, at least in your modern epoch, to explore the depths of the Oceans. I repeat once more that the sea is very rich, surpassing by far the goods of the land. Of course, the sea, as an element of Nature, is not always favourable to the people that explore it. There are, my brethren, means for man to use in the future, to convince himself about the treasures of the sea.

I once gave a small description of the Oceans and I mentioned animals and plants, as well as metals unknown to your modern science. I will not repeat myself on the things that I have taught about. If I ask the most notorious sea-exploring scientists, what is the biggest depth of the Ocean and where this is located, I am sure that they will not give a correct answer. The immense depths of the Oceans are located in yet unknown to you points of the Earth, especially near volcanic craters under the sea.

The fiery lava of these volcanos comes into contact with water and is not extinguished immediately but it creates around itself a kind of liquid, which man urgently needs for certain ailments of his organism. How is it possible for this liquid to be collected and transferred for research in the labs of the medical chemists? Yet, despite what I am mentioning, it is not difficult to collect this liquid. I am talking about collection because it is not a simple water. When you examine it under the microscope, you will find organisms that can withstand high temperatures.

There are metals unknown in your world, which will be very useful in the construction of various mechanical devices, which you have not imagined yet. I will also mention a kind of flower of lilac colour. It has other hues, as well, without name. This flower will also be used for many types of diseases, which are considered incurable. Most wonders of Nature, therefore, are in the depths of the Oceans.

Science today has started showing some kind of interest for the treasures of the sea. Despite all the technical means in its disposal, it is not even in the beginning! Investigations are done, rocks are being examined, as well as marine plants and many more, without you reaching your goal. Heaven would be of more assistance to your actions, had you avoided wars and your corrupt life, be that spiritual or bodily. This will not last long, however, because everything will be overturned, so that man will proceed to where his fate has destined him to go and not to become a servant to his materialistic spirit.

Empedocles

Electric currents of unknown force

Newton

Electricity, my dear friends, is a power that you were not able to analyse. We have given the explanation of the electric current. On the basis of electric energy you can make what use of this you like. The motion which the functioning of that current provides you with gave a boost to mechanical progress. You are still at the first stages of the exploitation of electric current. In the future you will be able by means of it and through special apparatus and with your faith in the Lord to communicate with souls. This leap will be man's greatest invention — I mean this leap that will allow you to grasp the discourses of the Beyond. But I have said that it will require care to distinguish whether the spirit that speaks to you is White or Black.

If you acquire the qualities of a pious and good man you will be in a position to separate what is right from what is not right. Electric current as an airborne wave is something that you can increase to an infinite intensity. That is, E.C.X. with intensity X can give X.E.C. So much for the electric current of earthly life. But there are also other kinds of electric current in the boundlessness of Heaven whose force you cannot imagine. There are cold currents with telecommunicative intensity. This intensity is free for both the parties of Heaven, that is to say, the parties of the Good and the Evil Spirit. It is by means of these currents that the discourses of the Heavenly Leaders and of their infernal counterparts are transmitted.

There is but one road not troubled by the currents of the electric intensity of the dark spirit through which we can transmit the Truth of the Word from the Kingdom of the Lord. I tell you this in order to forewarn that in the future, when this road is no more, you should give attention to our texts and place your trust only in them. There are many roads that are at the disposition of every wind that blows.

The difference between the electric currents of the Earth and those outside your World is enormous. For the electric currents of Heaven that derive from our Kingdom are incorruptible, being created by the Supreme Cause; and they effect the constellations, transmitting an intensity of the force $P.E.C. = X+F/E.C.$. We have a different way of measuring from you. The relationships that numbers have between themselves are analogous to the speed of their sense. An increasing number does not always yield the same sense that man gives with mathematical exactitude to his understanding of it.

The electric currents of the Universe have a single Source. This is the motion created by the Lord's Law by means of electro-magnetic intensity. All beings and life in eternity move on the basis of the electric currents. Each of the stars of the firmament, whether or not in your opinion it possesses life, creates a special electric current in its atmosphere, and this is faint or strong according to the class of the star and its position as an active force with respect to its purpose. Electro-solar rays reach Earth by means of the electric current produced by the warmth of the sun, while the direction is given by the electric energy of the Universe. These currents are able to produce explosions that will give rise to a new World, for the attraction of two stars and their collision is brought about by means of electric currents. One star cannot be attracted by another unless the electric current of the Universe has entered into their attraction — that is to say, unless the Creator has given His approval. He alone is the Unborn Generator of electric current in the Universe.

The simplicity of my discourse on a subject that requires analytical care will facilitate you greatly in finding the relationship of numbers with the intensity of the electric force of the current. Through your dedication to the Divine Principle, you will be able to receive Light from this Principle, and this will illumine your work. It is sufficient if you are faithful to the idea of the existence of the Most High, of the rewarding and punishing of human beings.

The Aurora Borealis as an infallible Meteorological Centre

Homer

In most of the countries of your world there are different meteorological centres, from which of course you learn at each season of the weather conditions, and thus acquire a basis for your decision whether or not to travel. How many times - as the meteorologists themselves admit - they are out in their predictions, to the detriment of those concerned. How often have they reported storms and made a mistake about the direction of them, even though they bring the most perfected scientific methods to bear in their forecasts!

It can happen that a strong, cold wind is advancing from the north towards the west and everyone is expecting a change in the temperature; meantime, however, the winds change direction towards the south. Such changes in the weather conditions cannot be observed before-hand from a long distance by your meteorologists, because they do not know how the winds are created and why they change direction on the way, with greater or lesser velocity. Their superb mechanical instruments function well, but they cannot grasp the unexpected changes of direction in the case of storm, rain, snow and the rest of the natural phenomena.

To make these efforts on the part of human beings more easy, the Spiritual World would advise the meteorological experts to turn their gaze to the Aurora Borealis and to focus all their attention on its varying hues, whence they will be able infallibly to forecast the changes in the weather conditions and their direction with mathematical accuracy.

When a few of your scientists set out for the North to encounter the Aurora Borealis, let them stay there for a time to study this phenomenon. They must not hurry in their researches and they should sharpen their observation, that they may discover many unknown things of which they were unaware before.

From the Northern regions of the Aurora Borealis you will be able to work out the weather bulletins for each country; that is, you will know what the atmosphere will be in a given country and how long it will last.

Do not neglect to study the Aurora Borealis, because up till now your response to this phenomenon has been simple wonder, in ignorance of its usefulness to you. When you come to the end of your researches and are persuaded of all that I have told you, then praise the Lord from whom you have received the illumination to know the unknown marvels of nature.

Homer

Natural Phenomena

Confucius

You mortals, after long investigation of natural phenomena, have acquired the habit of giving, according to your discernment, explanations about these things that derive from your observation and your imagination. The result is that for phenomena such as thunder, lightning, earthquakes, tempests, bad weather, heat and cold, you have formed mistaken ideas. Why?

Because you are not enlightened by Our Cause. You have for example measured the possible central heat of your Earth and you forecast everything in accordance with the law of probabilities - that your Earth, for instance, will retain its heat for so many centuries to come! How have you reached this conclusion, since no man has ever penetrated into the bowels of the Earth? I mention this, because research from a distance is always fallacious.

You are fully aware, that in an enclosed space, fire without oxygen cannot endure. How, therefore, in the bowels of the Earth, has the life-giving fire of the Earth's bowels, endured for countless centuries? This is the question.

The thunderbolt is a positive force and is attracted by the negative force of the Earth. What happens to the thunderbolt? As an electro-dynamic flash it penetrates into the insulated magazines of the Earth, to be found at an enormous depth, and there protected. When the Leaders of the Spiritual World, unite the positive energy of the thunderbolt with the negative energy of Earth, an explosion is created, together with new fire for the renewal of the heat of the bowels of the Earth. Otherwise fire would have disappeared a long while ago from the bowels of the Earth, where there is no oxygen. Do not have the idea, then, that you have investigated everything.

You have toiled greatly in order to reach a single conclusion. But is this conclusion right? Who will give you the correct answer? Man? He, on investigating, will fall into the same error because his brains are earthly and his mind is limited, while the Heavenly Teachers have limitless knowledge about every subject, unknown to your comprehension.

We have given explanations of many phenomena many years ago, but there are others of which we will give the explanation at a later date. The more simple of them, which are daily visible to your eyes but which remain unobserved at certain points of your solar system, have not yet been explained by anyone. Why?

Because the spirit of man cannot grasp the meaning of values and for this reason is not capable of penetrating the unknown mysteries of life. Learn first to believe and then to investigate if you wish to become effective and invaluable scientists.
